This plot in Javea is a rare investment opportunity for developers, being large enough to accommodate up to five separate properties, each on its own large plot. The total surface of this urban land is 7043m² metres. Located only a short distance away from the popular Arenal beach most of the houses that would be built on it would benefit from sea views, which makes this plot pretty special since this is an area where sea views are hard enough to come by.
